

SERIES OVERVIEW

The Big Questions

We're convinced that life's biggest questions deserve better answers and so we teamed up with like-minded youth researchers and educators over at Fuller Youth Institute to bring you this very special four-week series called The Big Questions. FYI collected hundreds of hours of research from teenagers, churches, and student-focused organizations across several cultures, as well as collected answers from students of varying races, socio-economic backgrounds, and genders. Their research revealed huge opportunities for the church to walk with a generation as they ask "Who am I?", "Where do I fit in", and "Do I matter?". We are grateful to partner with Fuller Youth Institute in an aligned mission to help teens discover better answers to these questions.

We can't wait for your teenagers to discover the practical ways that following Jesus helps answer life's biggest questions. Enjoy this series and be sure to check out the good work happening over at fulleryouthinstitute.org.
